FEATURED EMPLOYER

ABOUT ZOOM

At Zoom, we believe that in order to deliver happiness to our customers, our employees should be happy at work. That's why we focus on cultivating a culture around our value of care. Similar to the military, we care for ourselves, our communities, our customers, and our teammates. We cultivate the values of loyalty, integrity, and courage, that have been present in your previous career. Our veterans can be found designing the latest Zoom feature, creating a more secure communications experience, and helping our customers best collaborate.

Zoom provides a work environment that understands the value of all people and allows you to be who you are. We also understand the unique and specialized skills that veterans acquire throughout their careers and we create an environment in which you can thrive with those skills. That's why we have an Employee Resource Group dedicated to motivating you to reach our shared goal of delivering a platform that shapes the future of communication and collaboration.

JOBS AT ZOOM

NETWORK ENGINEER

Remote (U.S.)

The role focuses on enhancing Zoom's infrastructure by optimizing reliability, performance, supportability, and security. Network Engineers ensure proper resources and scalable design in production environments. They also participate in testing procedures and provide technical input for security and disaster recovery. The role also involves troubleshooting, implementing preventive measures, and collaborating with Software Engineers on new technologies. On-call duties for supporting production networks are part of the responsibilities. As well as emphasizing the recurring need for automation to streamline configuration updates.

CAPACITY PLANNER

Bay Area, CA

As a capacity planner, you will help bridge the gap between technical project management and drive capacity expansions within Engineering. As a member of the Zoom DevOps team, you will empower top global corporations to discover flexible solutions for modern team collaboration. You will advocate the innovative power of our platform to make organizations more productive, collaborative, and mobile.

WORKDAY RECRUITING AND TALENT ANALYST

Remote (U.S.)

The Workday Recruiting and Talent Analyst, is the subject matter expert of Workday Talent, Recruiting, Performance, Career and Succession modules. This role owns security administration, business process design, career/talent setup, and end user experience. This position ensures accurate best practice business process/workflows and other system dependencies are in place within Workday to support related programs.

ACCOUNT EXECUTIVE - MAJORS

Remote (Texas)

Zoom is looking for Account Executives to sell our Zoom One Platform. Our AE's engage with existing customers and new leads to sell the entire Zoom platform. The Zoom sales team is a dynamic force driving the company's success. With a focus on delivering cutting-edge communication solutions for clients across all sectors, the team passionately engages with clients worldwide. Through strategic partnerships and a customer-centric approach, they play a pivotal role in expanding Zoom's global presence and ensuring businesses harness the full potential of virtual collaboration.

SR. BUSINESS SYSTEMS ANALYST

Remote (U.S.)

Zoom is looking for a Sr. Systems Administrator to join our Customer Experience Organization Operations team. You will help design and develop business solutions in our Salesforce environment. You will also work in other internal systems with a core focus on Professional Services initiatives. We are a technical team, able to navigate and partner with complex organizations successfully to drive alignment, organize planning activities, and drive sustained process improvements. We roll up our sleeves in the weeds of individual processes, develop and support projects end-to-end, and drive business outcomes. This includes planning and troubleshooting issues, integrating a variety of different systems, and creating solutions to increase efficiency by streamlining business processes.
